

AMPLEFORTH COLLEGE GOLF CLUB

The course comprises 9 holes through the listed historic park round Gilling Castle, and provides a stimulating challenge for any golfer. It is in a superb setting over undulating terrain with excellent views over the moors and woodland. The course drains well and is never closed for weather conditions (barring snow!). Visitors and new members welcome. The course is in the village of Gilling East on the B1363 from York to Helmsley approximately 18 miles North of York.

The course was constructed in 1960, with advice from the professional at The York Club at Strensall, for the exclusive use of pupils at Ampleforth College. At the initiative of the Licensee of the Fairfax Arms at Gilling, a golf club was formed in 1972, in co-operation with the College. The Club is affiliated to the Yorkshire and English Golf Unions, has a full programme of matches and competitions, and is solely responsible for the course. College pupils have precedence on the course between 2-4p.m. in the school terms.

COURSE DETAILS

9 holes, 5600 yds, SSS 69 (Ladies 5282 yds, SSS 72) Short game practice area and putting green available.

CLUB HOUSE

There are simple changing facilities at the course, but for food, refreshments and drinks, the Fairfax Arms serves as the Clubhouse. A planning application has been granted for a clubhouse by the side of the 18th green and it is hoped to commence work on this project in the near future.

VISITORS

Visitors are most welcome but College pupils have precedence on the course between 2-4p.m. in the school terms. The course is closed to visitors on some Sunday mornings when competitions are held.
